Product Line Announcement
 Cast Iron Compressor Valves and Flanges

Dear Valued Customer:

Mueller Refrigeration Division has made the decision to discontinue the manufacture and general sales of the Cast Iron Compressor Valve and Flange product line, effective June 5, 2017.

Due to increased difficulties procuring components for this product line, and the additional costs associated with sourcing as the product line is discontinued, Mueller will increase the list price of the product line for all shipments effective January 2, 2017, and again for shipments from April 3, 2017. Final orders will be accepted, with quantities to be confirmed by Mueller based on availability up to June 5, 2017, with all shipments to be complete by July 14, 2017. As cast iron products may develop rust if stored improperly or for extended periods of time, all sales will be final, and returns will not be accepted.

Certain part numbers will find a cross reference to our standard brass valve and flange product line, with specific information provided in the referenced table below. Should you require additional information, please contact your local sales representative.
